One Survivor Found After Raging Storm

NEW YORK (AP) — The body of a man in a life jacket was plucked from the sea today, presumably one of 28 men missing after an Air Force radar tower collapsed in a storm.

Wreckage also was found near the site of the six-story structure, built on pilings in the ocean 80 miles southeast of New York City. It went under in a howling gale Sunday night.

area, the Coast Guard reported one body was found floating amid debris by the U.S. destroyer Norris. The destroyer Berry also reported finding parts of a 15-foot service boat.

A mattress, a life preserver, and an oil slick also left poignant signs of the tragedy.

The tower — of a type called Texas Towers because they were copied from offshore oil rigs in the Gulf of Mexico — was part of the Air Force warning system.

A sort of "radar island," it was triangular in shape, 67 feet tall and 187 feet long on each of the three sides. Three huge domes laden with electronic equipment rose from the top.

The tower, damaged in last September's hurricane, Donna, had been under repair when hit by Sunday night's raging winds and high seas. It was situated 66 miles east of Barnegat light, N.J.

The first hint that the 14 Air Force men and 13 civilian workers were in trouble aboard the structure—called a Texas Tower—came at 7:15 p.m. when a Navy ship picked up a distress signal.

The vessel, the "Talk-17," a Navy ship that supplied the tower, was only 12 miles away when it received the "May Day" or SOS.

For 10 suspenseful minutes, the ship—fighting high winds and 35-foot waves—maintained radar and radio contact with the doomed tower. Suddenly, the tower's radar image disappeared.

There were two life boats at the tower and searchers hope survivors were able to escape.

The aircraft carrier Wasp, accompanied by two destroyers, was about 80 miles from the scene. The big flattop took charge of rescue attempts as Coast Guard cutters and other ships joined the search.

Two Coast Guard planes and helicopters from the Wasp managed to take to the air early today when visibility — diminished by driving snow and sleet—lifted somewhat and snow turned to rain.

But flares dropped into dark storm-tossed waves showed only a few traces of the $20-million tower. The Wasp reported finding "a large amount of debris" about nine miles from the tower site. Ironically, the tower was under repair because of another storm — Hurricane Donna — when tragedy struck.

Youth Detained For Possession Of Marijuana

A juvenile was picked up by the police late Sunday afternoon in connection with bringing into Missouri and to Sedalia a quantity of marijuana cigarettes.

According to the police, the youth admitted to Prosecuting Attorney Robert Fritz, Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin and Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn he had brought the cigarettes from the State of Colorado. After he was questioned he was released to Glenn and taken to the County jail and held in the women's section of the jail.

Prosecuting Attorney Fritz said the boy would be taken before Judge Frank Hayes in juvenile court on a charge of unlawful possession of narcotics. Fritz also said Judge Hayes was out of town Monday and a date for the hearing had not been set.

Police had been working on the case since Christmas week and closed in Sunday evening.

All land owners, tenants and city officials interested in the Blackwater-Lamine water shed are urged to attend. This meeting is also open to the public.

2 Negro Students In Class

Peaceful Return Despite Recent Campus Rioting

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Two young Negroes returned in peace today to classes at the University of Georgia which suspended them last Wednesday night after campus riots following their admission under a federal court order.

Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, first Negroes ever to be admitted to the 175-year-old university, came back in a cold drizzling rain from their homes in Atlanta under another federal order forbidding the university from again suspending or expelling them if disorders again erupt.

There were no resurrections of last week's demonstrations.

Miss Hunter stepped from a white car which had cautiously circled the block several times. She entered her dormitory at 8:05 a.m. Five white men in plain clothes who accompanied her kept a close watch on the area.

The watch disclosed only the normal traffic of any college campus.

Holmes walked into his classroom at 8:45 a.m., accompanied by three white men. He entered a different building from that where Miss Hunter was in class.

Miss Hunter and Holmes were driven to Athens, starting before dawn, by their attorney, Donald L. Hollowell, and the Rev. Samuel W. Williams, president of the Atlanta branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Upon arrival in Athens, they transferred to other cars.

An armed prowler created excitement Sunday night when he appeared at a dormitory and told a guard he was looking for the Negro girl enrolled in the school. Police were told he drew a gun when asked to identify himself, relieved the guard of his gun and fled. The incident occurred about 9:30 p.m.

Kennel Show Draws 2,000 To Sedalia

More than 2,000 Kennel show enthusiasts turned out Sunday to see the Sedalia Kennel Club's obedience show at Convention Hall, Liberty Park. It was the biggest crowd ever attracted to any local dog show, according to Mrs. Elmer Lutjen, club secretary.

There were 204 entries in the 20 classes of competition and included were entries from Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Illinois.

The huge crowd, coupled with an increase in entries nearly double those registered last year, kept club officials and members beaming with joy throughout the afternoon's activities.

A Democrat-Capital photographer was on hand for the show and his photographs along with a list of winners will be published on the feature page of Sunday's Democrat-Capital.

There were many local entries as well as state and out-of-state entries. A club spokesman said the biggest problem facing the local club in connection with these shows is the need for more attention from breeders. It was also pointed out that Sedalia is growing at a rapid pace in number of top show dogs.

A reporter on the scene summed up the afternoon activities as a "howling" success for the local organization.

Castro Militia Attacks

Rebel Bands Surrounded In Mountains

HAVANA (AP) — Between 10,000 and 15,000 militiamen, unleashed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro in a major offensive, have surrounded growing rebel bands operating in the rugged Escambray Mountains of south Central Cuba, according to reliable reports.

It could not be determined if the offensive was part of a nationwide drive to fulfill Castro's pledge to wipe out all rebel activity in Cuba this year, or merely a one-shot attack to clean up an area troublesome to Castro since he took power.

One of the hundreds of civilians evacuated from the mountains in Las Villas Province said the militiamen were shelling an area where the rebels were believed concentrated and would move in after the mortar and artillery bombardment.

Castro claimed last fall that all rebel activity in the mountains was smashed. There have been persistent — but unconfirmed — reports that 300 to 1,000 insurgents continued to operate in the jungle-like area under the command of ex-army Maj. Evelio Duque and former Capt. Ramon Perez.

There was no official word on the reported offensive. Military headquarters in Cienfuegos, in the mountain foothills, indicated an offensive was under way but referred all questions to Havana headquarters.

It was unofficially reported that 70 to 90 persons were seized in Cienfuegos on charges of links with rebel activity. Hundreds of peasants in the area were reported evacuated.

Castro's troops reportedly are commanded by Maj. Dermidio Escalona, recently transferred to Las Villas after commanding the army in westernmost Pinar del Rio Province.

In Havana, the Castro regime continued a crackdown on accused counter-revolutionaries.

Thirty-three men, one of them a North American, were sentenced to prison terms of 9 to 30 years on charges they were involved in various plots against the government.

WAFB Sergeant Dies In Crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri during the weekend.

A technical sergeant from the Whiteman Air Force Base, Orville Armstrong, 27, was killed Sunday when the car he was driving plunged over the Post Oak Bridge on Highway 13 north of Warrensburg. The car tore off 46 feet of bridge rail before plunging over the span.

Carl Eugene Carlile, 40, Joplin, was killed Saturday in a car that failed to make a curve on Highway 71 north of Neosho.

Balubas Hit Hospital

Report 2 Attacks In Congo Sunday

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Baluba warriors attacked a hospital at Luena and severely wounded a Belgian doctor, the United Nations reported today.

The U.N. command said Congolese also opened fire on Moroccan soldiers of the United Nations stationed in the same Katanga town. The Moroccans returned fire but no casualties were reported. Both attacks took place Sunday.

White refugees fleeing from race violence waged by the Lumumbists in Kivu Province have been pouring into a refuge set up by the United Nations at Goma. The U.N. command today was trying to obtain the release of six American missionaries and their families who were arrested while trying to get out of Kivu.

White refugees said the missionaries, their wives and 17 children — 29 persons in all — were seized by Congolese troops while trying to cross the Ruzizi River into the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi Saturday.

The Americans reportedly were stopped at the frontier bridge leading to the Ruanda town of Shangugu, put in Congolese army trucks, and driven to Bukavu, the provincial capital controlled by followers of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

(The missionaries apparently are members of the Berean Mission, an interdenominational group with headquarters in St. Louis. Mrs. C. Reuben Lindquist, wife of the Berean president, said in St. Louis the group has 13 adults and 16 children, in the Congo or Ruanda-Urundi.

Rebels Take Key Ta Vieng Base In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Rebel capture of the key staging base of Ta Vieng dealt a major blow over the weekend to government plans to attack Communist forces to the north.

Soldiers and civilians began digging trenches in Vientiane and Luang Prabang as the new Red offensive posed a threat to both cities.

Premier Boun Oum struck back with the four T6 training planes received from the United States making rocket and machinegun attacks on the pro-Communist forces who drove 1,000 to 1,500 government troops from Ta Vieng Friday. The squadron reported destroying a rebel truck but heavy fog prevented determining other damage.

Departure of some security police and troops from Vientiane southward to Savannakhet sparked rumors that the government was planning to evacuate the capital, but most officials denied any such move.

Reports that the rebels were advancing on two important fronts caused apprehension in the vital government bases of Pakxane and Tha Thom and travelers said defense forces massed there last week for a drive to the north against Red-held Xieng Khouang Province appeared in a state of confusion.

Five Companies Bid On Gravel for Needs For Pettis County

Five local gravel and rock processing firms submitted bids on 4,000 tons of surfacing rock or gravel as requested by the Pettis County Court, and the bids were opened Saturday.

The contract for delivery of the gravel to the county yard on West Main has not yet been awarded, but the apparent low bidder is the C. C. Cover & Sons Construction Co., at $1.14 per ton.

The remaining four bids were as follows: Bishop-Lane Construction Co., $1.35 per ton; Morris Bros., $1.37 per ton; Howard Construction Co., $1.58; and Vincel Bishop, $1.65.

The material is to be used by the county on jobs not under contract. Stockpiling is to be completed by April 15.

Ask Record Amount For Military Budget

Calls for Big Surplus

Farewell Budget Over $80 Billion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For fiscal year ending June 30:

	1961	1962
Income	$79,024,000,000	$82,333,000,000
Expenses	$78,945,000,000	$80,865,000,000
Surplus	$79,000,000	$1,468,000,000
National debt at year's end:	$284,900,000,000	283,400,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today sent Congress an $80.9 billion farewell budget calling for a $1.5 billion surplus dependent on the will of Congress, John F. Kennedy and fate.

To finance the projected surplus for the 1962 fiscal year that begins July 1, Eisenhower would increase federal fees and taxes on all those who mail letters, travel in airplanes or use the nation's highways.

Most of his action proposals were read, but the 1,040-page budget book did include these ideas which he formally suggested for the first time:

The possible creation of a high-prestige White House job, perhaps carrying the title first secretary of the government. The post would be filled by a presidential ap-

Eisenhower said his new and final budget was based on the same yardstick as his first—"Using necessity, rather than mere desirability as the test for our expenditures."

Such are the trends of the times that he found it necessary to plan an additional $1.9 billion of spending for fiscal 1962.

Some of the major increases: Defense Department military outlays up $1.4 billion to $42.9 billion. This would help pay for five new Polaris missile submarines, an expanded Minuteman ICBM program, work on a system promising a 15-minute warning of any missile attack, and replacement of part of the military airlift fleet.

Eisenhower's Budget Gets Some Dispute

Kennedy Aides See Likely Dip Into Red by Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's forecast of budget surpluses this year and next are disputed by President-elect John F. Kennedy's advisers.

Kennedy's economic task force has predicted that, because of the business recession, the government is likely to dip into red ink in this fiscal year which ends June 30.

Eisenhower's budget message sent to Congress today estimates a surplus of $79 million for fiscal 1961, followed by a $1.5 billion surplus in fiscal 1962.

Eisenhower acknowledged the shakiness of the predicted 1961 surplus. It will be wiped out, he said, unless postal rates are increased "not later than April 1, 1961." Congress is not expected to act on postal rates soon, if at all this year.

As for fiscal 1962, the President said his forecasts "reflect expected gains in the national economy," providing improved tax revenues from rising incomes and corporate earnings.

Douglas Dillon, the present undersecretary of state who has been picked as Kennedy's secretary of the Treasury, gave a less optimistic view last Wednesday to the Senate Finance Committee.

Dillon, a Republican, said everything he has been told indicates there will be a deficit in fiscal 1962.

The Kennedy economic team, headed by Dr. Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, recalled in its report on Jan. 5 how widely Eisenhower missed his estimate on the fiscal 1959 budget.

"Due largely to the impact of a recession that everyone but the authorities admitted was taking place," said the Samuelson report, "the announcement in early 1958 of a small fiscal 1959 surplus was actually followed by a final fiscal 1959 deficit of more than $12 billion."

A year ago, when the fiscal 1961 budget message was issued, it called for a $4.2 billion surplus. That has almost entirely vanished because of sluggish business, particularly the slump in corporate profits.

42.9 Billion Sought For Defense Use

Peacetime Request Nears Amount Spent In Korean Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed today a record peacetime military budget to equip American armed forces for any form of action from limited emergencies to a general war.

In his final budget message to Congress, he recommended a $42.9 billion outlay for the year beginning next July 1—$1.4 billion above the estimate for the current year.

The new military request was the largest since World War II, except for the year beginning July 1, 1952. In that costliest year of the Korean War $43.7 billion was spent.

Eisenhower proposed no change in total military manpower.

President-elect John F. Kennedy and his secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, can and will make whatever changes they desire in the budget request.

Kennedy, in last fall's campaign, hinted at some changes: Acceleration of the missile program, expansion and modernization of conventional forces and more defenses against enemy missile submarines.

The increase in the fiscal 1962 military spending program reflects several factors: A step-up in the readiness in manpower and deployment of arms; delivery of new, complex weapons and whole weapons systems; the steady increase in prices for material and labor.

Safety Risk Is Created By Students

Police officers on duty at Broadway and Engineer have reported that many students from Washington School are creating a dangerous traffic hazard at the intersection.

The children are reportedly refusing to cross Broadway at Engineer, where an officer is on duty for their safety during the hours school is out. Instead, it was reported, several children prefer to cross at the intersections on each side of Engineer, or to cross Broadway between the intersections.

This creates a dangerous condition," Police Chief Ralph Hamlin said Monday. "Both for the motorist and the child."

Hamlin has asked that the parents of children attending Washington School warn their children to cross at the intersection of Broadway and Engineer.

There are no school signs in this area, Hamlin pointed out, because Washington School is not on Broadway. The police department has asked the cooperation of the Missouri State Highway Department in obtaining school signs for this intersection as it is widely used by Washington students.

As the situation is now, without the school signs motorists are not expecting children to cross anywhere but at the guarded intersection. Hamlin said he is afraid that if the children continue to cross anywhere but at the intersection, someone will get hurt.

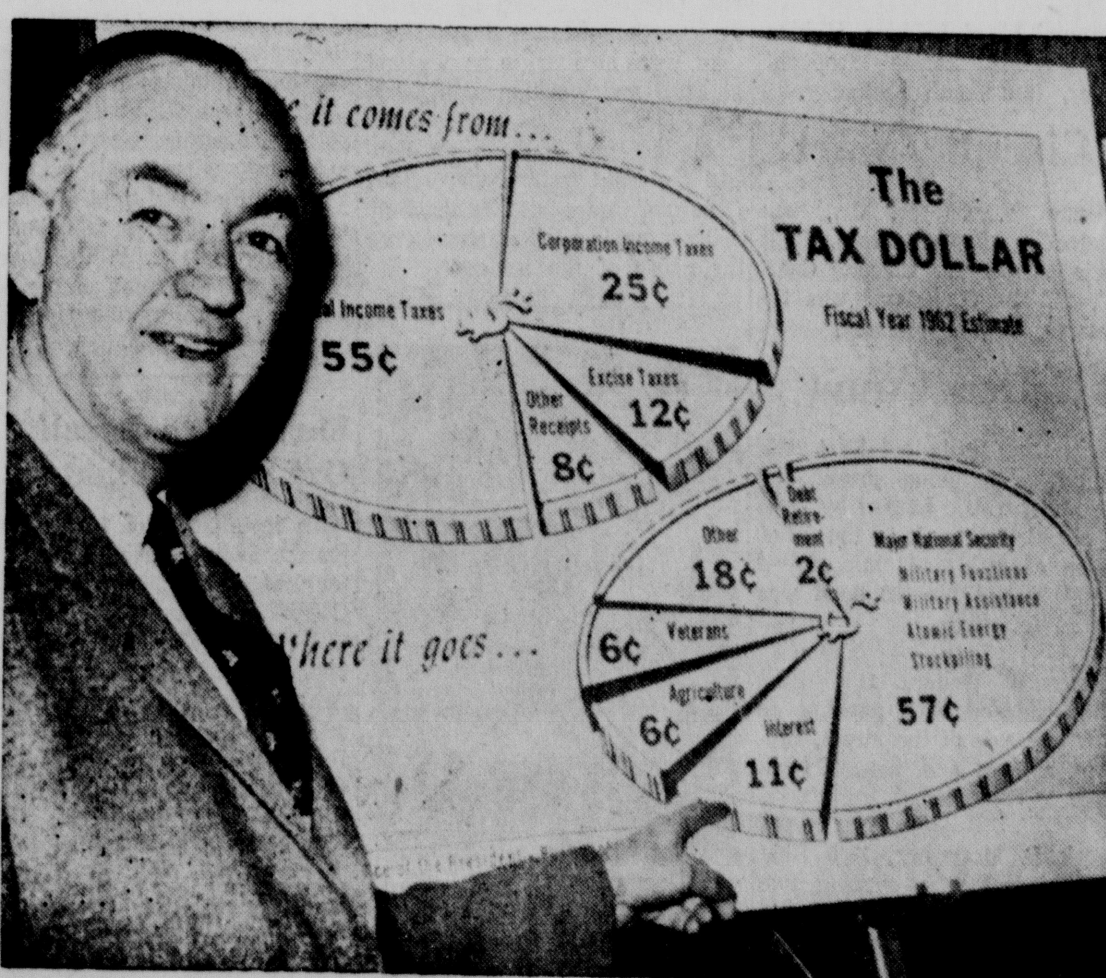

Howard Being Held In County Jail On Charge of Robbery

David Lee Howard of Jefferson City, charged with first degree robbery in connection with the robbery of Ray Dirck in Sedalia Saturday morning, is being held in the Pettis County jail in lieu of making a $5,000 bond set by Magistrate Frank Armstrong.

Howard was apprehended shortly after the reported robbery, by Officer John Fair of the Sedalia Police Department, and later identified by Dirck as the man who held him up as he was making his rounds on his milk route.

The man allegedly took some $30 in cash and some checks from Dirck at gun-point.

Slugs Are Found In Coin Changer At Local Laundry

R. W. Cowan, 1400 State Fair Blvd., Sunday afternoon turned in a number of 25-cent slugs he found in the coin changer at the East Side Laundry on East 12th.

A total of $14.25 was found in the changer. This is the second time in three months a number of the same type slugs were found in this same laundry.

Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin said the slugs were all made by the same machine, and that police are attempting to track down the machine.

Cowan has offered a $25 reward to the individual offering information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons using the slugs. Police officers are not eligible to receive the reward, Hamlin said.

Other automatic laundry operators in this area report only a small percentage of the coins in their machines are slugs, and that slugs show up only occasionally. The operators have been alerted and are watching their coin machines closely.

To Return Suspect In Bogus Check Case

Deputy Jack Counts of the Pettis County Sheriff's department is on a trip to Wallace, Idaho, to bring back Helen McCarthy, who allegedly passed a series of bogus checks in Sedalia during the Christmas shopping season.

The woman, giving a Knob Noster address, allegedly opened an account for $10 at the Sedalia Bank & Trust Co., then went on a check-writing spree in the amount of more than $300, passing the checks in Sedalia stores.

Local police traced the woman through a series of similar offenses committed on the west coast. When she was apprehended in Idaho a few days ago, arrangements were made for her return to face charges in Sedalia.

Democrats Celebrating This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—If ever there was a week for Democrats to celebrate, this is it. On Friday, one of their own, John F. Kennedy, will be inaugurated president, ending eight years of Republican federal rule.

And the Democrats mean to celebrate, starting tonight with a reception for one of their venerable leaders, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 79.

The Republicans, however, won't be entirely left out in the cold. The soon-to-be "outs" cut into a week of partying for the new "ins" with a "Transition Ball" tonight in honor of the outgoing Eisenhower administration. What started out as a modest affair has gotten unexpected response from Republicans.

They hope to muster 15,000 to dance until midnight to a 13-piece orchestra.

Ball chairman Lyman Brownfield explains: "There are some people who have some reservations about attending certain functions this month, but do, nevertheless, want to take part in a ball to have fun and say goodbye to their many friends."

Texans, including Vice President-elect and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, are expected to dominate the Rayburn reception to which some 250 persons have been invited. Soft music and a sumptuous buffet will mark the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Boyd of McKinney, Tex., for Rayburn and his two sisters, Mrs. W.A. Thomas of Dallas and Mrs. S.E. Bartley of Bonham, Tex.

Throughout the week, Washington will be on a party kick with scores of dances, receptions, dinners and private celebrations.

Kennedy himself is coming back from Palm Beach Tuesday and will put in an appearance at a party his sister, Jean Kennedy Smith, is giving for the cast of the inaugural gala.

The gala is a star-studded evening of entertainment being produced by Frank Sinatra and Kennedy's brother-in-law, actor Peter Lawford. Top talent from Broadway and Hollywood, taking part in the event, will be guests of the Smiths, who have expanded the facilities of their small Georgetown home by setting up a heated tent in their garden.

Fashion experts are predicting Washington is in for a boom in elegant formal wear, sparked by Kennedy's decision to bring back the high silk hat for his inauguration. Capital shops are featuring formal clothes — their windows filled with ball gowns — and haberdashers are pushing white ties and cutaways.

The governors of 44 states, American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, their wives and military aides will attend a special luncheon in the House Office Building Friday immediately following the swearing-in ceremonies.

Among the 200 to 250 guests at the luncheon will be former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman, their daughter, Margaret, and her husband, Clifton Daniel.

Charge Brother Of Ex-cons As An Accomplice

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP)—The brother of one of three ex-convicts accused of a savage revenge slaying Dec. 31, has been charged as an accessory.

James Eugene Fraley, 24, was implicated by his brother, Jesse Glenn Fraley, said Jefferson County Prosecutor William B. Millett. Both are from LeMay.

Jesse Fraley, Jesse Allen Wilcox and Clarence Richard Bosler were charged with slaying Oswald E. Kuehn, 53.

Police said Kuehn, who was found in a field near Arnold, Mo., was killed because he stole about $1,100 of the loot taken in a robbery.

Authorities said Kuehn had shared a room with Wilcox and worked as a "finder" in selecting profitable places for the three ex-convicts to rob.

The left front of the taxi and the right front fender of the Pontiac were damaged.

Matures Since Pearl Harbor

President-elect Kennedy A Product of Nuclear Age

EDITOR'S NOTE—Within a few days, John F. Kennedy assumes the presidency. Here, in the first of four articles on the president-elect and the shaping of his administration, a noted reporter describes the character and qualities of the man preparing for his role in history.

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief fact about John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States, is that he is a product of the nuclear age.

He came to maturity in the 20 thunderous years since Pearl Harbor. His thinking today has been deeply conditioned by them.

These were the years of hot and cold war, of brand new weapons and tactics, of burgeoning population, and of social, political and economic earthquakes throughout the world. In this period, Americans learned the harsh fact that, today, the price of survival is not only eternal vigilance but also toughness, discipline and ruthless efficiency.

Kennedy is tough, realistic, decisive. Having arrived at a decision, he acts swiftly and with authority.

He is highly disciplined. With immense single-mindedness, he fo-

Kennedy Has Time Out To See Graham

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy takes time out today from consultations on appointees and speech-writing to lunch with Baptist evangelist Billy Graham.

Kennedy, who is scheduled to leave Palm Beach Tuesday afternoon to fly to Washington and New York for a round of activity in advance of his Friday inauguration, planned more work today on the address he will deliver after taking the oath of office.

With several more key positions to be filled before taking over the reins of government, the president-elect is spending considerable time in consultation regarding prospective appointees.

Three grafts embargoed for 6:30 a.m. est.

Today he announced the appointment of a career government official, John M. Leddy, as assistant secretary of the Treasury for international affairs.

Leddy, 46, has held State Department positions since 1941 and for the last two years has been assistant to the Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, who — as secretary of the Treasury — will continue to be his chief.

A native of Chicago, Leddy has a bachelor's degree from Georgetown University School of Foreign Service. He began his government career in 1934 with the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

END embargoed matter

The president-elect's luncheon date with Graham was arranged, Kennedy's headquarters said, by Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., who also is invited.

During the presidential campaign when Kennedy's Roman Catholicism was an issue, Graham did not publicly endorse either Kennedy or his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The evangelist gave a well-publicized invocation at a rally for the GOP candidate, a close friend.

Over the weekend Kennedy announced these other selections:

Elvis J. Stahr Jr., 44, president of West Virginia University, as secretary of the Army. This completed organization of the Pentagon high command under Robert S. McNamara, former president of the Ford Motor Co., as secretary of defense.

Dr. Luther L. Terry of Rockville, Md., as surgeon general of the United States. Terry, 49, will head the Public Health Service. He now is assistant director of the National Heart Institute, one of the government's major medical research units, and is a member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins University Medical School.

Former Rep. James M. Quigley, 42, Pennsylvania Democrat defeated for re-election last November, as assistant secretary of federal and state matters in the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Wilbur Cohen of Ann Arbor, Mich., as assistant secretary in that department for legislative matters. Cohen, 47, headed a Kennedy-appointed study group on Social Security matters.

Alanson W. Wilcox, 59, as general counsel of the same department. Wilcox, whose home is in Washington, now is general counsel of the American Hospital Association.

Robert J. Burkhardt, 44, of Titusville, N.J., as assistant postmaster general for facilities. Burkhardt is a former executive secretary to Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and has been director of the New Jersey Democratic Central Committee.

Democrat Class Ads Get Results

These total attention on the problem at hand. In effect, he examines it under a microscope.

And he is as efficient as a piston, driving, tireless, an organized man himself with the ability to organize others, a generator of power.

These are his primary qualities. Kennedy is 43, a member of that generation of Americans who fought in World War II. Very few of them had any part in shaping the policies of the United States or determining its situation at home and abroad in the two decades since the war.

But Kennedy did have a part in it. He comes to the presidency after 14 years in the House and Senate. From the freshman congressman of 1946, the slim young man from Boston developed into one of the most highly respected senators. Along the way, he demonstrated these principal characteristics:

1. The many-sided man.

Kennedy soaks up information like a sponge. He reads incessantly. And if he can't get what he wants from something on paper, he gets hold of an expert on the subject he is studying. He has a quick, keen mind.

2. The thoughtful American.

Kennedy's speeches show a deep feeling for the history, traditions and philosophy of the American political system. He frequently quotes from the founding fathers, and illustrates a point with an anecdote from the early days of the American government.

3. The organizer.

The much-admired political team that helped Kennedy, over towering obstacles, to the Democratic nomination and then to victory in the election, was largely his own creation. He went out to get the best brains and talent available, and then put together one of the most potent political organizations in history. He listened carefully to advice from all sides. But the final decisions were his own. He can be expected to operate in the same pattern as president.

4. The tactful touch.

Kennedy has great personal charm. He does things gracefully, with style. He is tactfully persuasive.

5. The detached man.

One of Kennedy's most impressive qualities is his icy calm. If he ever gets rattled, he doesn't show it. Confronted with a surprise or a problem, he simply goes poker-face. This correspondent, watching him in many situations, saw only two instances when he lost his temper.

6. The realist.

Kennedy seems in no circumstances to be given to self-delusion or to looking away from unpleasant facts. He is a supreme realist. For example, he remarked about a public figure, "He hates me, but he's a darn good man just the same." Again, discussing his election chances in a Western state, he said, coolly, "I expect they're going to give us the business out there." The voters did. These are the characteristics of Kennedy at work.

When he is not working—although the line between on-and-off hours is often hard to distinguish—he is an easy-moving man, fully relaxed. He gives the impression of controlled tension, the coiled spring, no matter what he is doing.

He likes to swim, fish, golf and play tennis. He is the first president, in all probability, who ever specialized in touch football. He has tremendous energy, and a dry, dead-pan sense of humor.

Crowd Hurls Tomatoes At Nazi Pickets

BOSTON (AP)—An angry crowd estimated by police at 10,000, hurling eggs and tomatoes Sunday ripped a swastika off George Lincoln Rockwell, self-styled "fuhrer" of the American Nazi Party, and routed an attempt by him and four "storm troopers" to picket a downtown movie.

In Chicago, a group of pickets wearing armbands and calling themselves the Fighting American Nationalists were escorted away from a Loop theater by police after scuffling with patrons. Police dispersed a crowd estimated at 200.

Both theaters were showing the same film, "Exodus," a story of the Jewish migration to Israel and the establishment of the Jewish state.

Rockwell, of Arlington, Va., and his companions, were led away through a side door of the theater, taken to a police station in protective custody and later placed aboard a New York-bound plane. No charges were placed against them.

At Boothbay Harbor, Maine, old-time vaudeville and radio comedian George R. (Doc) Rockwell, a close friend of the late Fred Allen, identified the American Nazi leader as his son, a former Maine artist and publisher. "He gets off on these things every so often," the father said. Mounted police and foot patrolmen battled the Boston crowd for more than an hour to rescue Rockwell and his companions. Rockwell's shirt was torn in the scuffling.

A truck bearing 16 other Rockwell followers was intercepted by police before it arrived at the theater and was ordered out of the city with a police escort.

The Chicago pickets said they were protesting the hiring of Dalton Trumbo to write the screen play for "Exodus." Trumbo was one of a group of screen writers who refused to answer certain questions of a Senate investigating committee during a hearing on alleged subversive activities several years ago.

Teamsters Give Board Go Ahead To Call Strike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Members of Teamsters Union Local 600 of St. Louis have authorized the executive board to call a strike.

Negotiations between the local and the trucking industry are scheduled to be resumed tomorrow in Chicago.

The vote yesterday was 1,361 in favor of authorizing a strike and 38 against it. The balloting followed a meeting before which both management and union officials spoke.

Eighteen representatives of the industry attended the meeting in answer to a challenge to do so by local President Charles W. Grogan.

Guy Roper, president of Hummann and Roper Freight Lines, and Carl G. Hogan, president of the Hogan Truck Service, told the union intense competition has made necessary some changes in working conditions, including job scheduling. The union maintains the proposed changes would cut overtime pay and jobs.

The union represents over-the-road and St. Louis freight drivers, dockmen and helpers and has a membership of more than 7,700. It is part of the Central States Conference of Teamsters which has been seeking an area-wide contract covering 13 Midwestern states.

A union spokesman said agreement on wages has been reached, a raise of 28 cents an hour spread over three-year contract. Wage scales were not available.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I didn't mind the pickets," Steve Allen told his audience, "but I noticed their signs were turned out by non-union painters and I didn't like that."

At least 30 demonstrators paraded outside an auditorium Saturday as the comedian spoke on the perils of nuclear war. They waved signs saying "Steve wants to crawl on his knees to the Kremlin," "Is Steve Allen a Fascist pig?"

Allen addressed a capacity audience of about 2,000 in the Los Angeles High School auditorium during an annual program by the Los Angeles local of the American Federation of Teachers. He has been active in groups seeking to end testing and production of nuclear weapons.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Measure of Character

As Vice President Richard M. Nixon prepares to return to private life for the first time since he entered the Navy in World War II, a comment on his postelection performance seems warranted.

It has been of a high order, in the view of most men in both major political parties and many disinterested observers.

Typical was his gracious, generous and dignified behavior as Senate presiding officer when he had the somewhat delicate task of formally declaring the presidential victory of John F. Kennedy—and his own defeat.

His brief speech on that occasion was so thoroughly in the best traditions of the democratic spirit that it won applause from Speaker Sam Rayburn, who rarely applauds anything in Congress.

Nixon also has been following a planned policy of leaving the spotlight to Kennedy in these days when he is getting his administration under way. He reasons sensibly that there will be time enough for Republicans leaders to speak out, when they have had opportunity to weigh Kennedy's performance in the White House.

It is interesting to set Nixon's recent behavior against some of the forecasts that were made. Remembering that he had known nothing but victory, some observers predicted that in defeat he would "fall apart." They saw him as a "hollow man" who would turn bitter and vindictive.

He has confounded these appraisers. A few might say he has been helped by the fact he lost so narrowly, but that conceivably could have added to bitterness.

Nixon's only real pique has been reserved for some members of the press, whom he accuses of bias against him and in favor of Kennedy in the coverage of the campaign. The charge deserves full examination by journalistic scholars and other dispassionate onlookers.

Even this has been expressed indirectly, through his aides.

Thus Richard M. Nixon is about to make an exit that is a credit to him and to his party. Technically, he heads for private life in California. But everyone knows it will be more public than private.

Beaten but not crushed, carrying himself well, he will be the major spokesman for his party for some time to come. If things break properly for him, he could easily be his party's presidential standard bearer again in 1964.

Rumblings of Dissent Over Connally

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — One of the ablest young men Kennedy has appointed to his administration is Texas oil Attorney John Connally to be the new Secretary of the Navy. There are also rumblings of dissent over his confirmation. The rumblings are understandable and may reach serious proportions. Here is what is behind them:

Rumble No. 1 — Results from the precedent of Ed Pauley, close friend of President Truman, who was blocked as Under Secretary of the Navy because of Senate protests that an oilman should not handle the vast oil reserves of the Navy. The Senate charged nothing unethical about Pauley, but believed there would be inevitable conflicts of interest. Opposition was so strong that Truman withdrew his name.

Rumble No. 2 — Results from a Fortune magazine article reporting the amazing manner in which the Navy let a contract to three Texans, one of them the late Sid Richardson. Vice President-elect Lyndon Johnson's brother later gave up his $16,000-a-year clerkship in the Senate to be an official of the Texas Company. Connally, the proposed new Secretary of the Navy, was attorney for Sid Richardson at the time this amazing Navy contract was awarded, practically without competitive bidding.

Rumble No. 3 — Connally was the brains and mainpring of the lobbying drive by gas and oil companies to pass the Natural Gas Act in 1956. Seldom has a more effective lobbying operation been seen in Washington. It succeeded in passing the Gas Act, which set aside the Supreme Court's decision regulating natural gas.

Will Sen. Case Fight?

But in doing so, the lobby overreached itself and it was revealed that lobbyists for Howard Keck of Superior Oil of California had attempted to bribe Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota. Senator Case, who rejected the $2,500 bribe and spilled the beans to the Senate, is now a member of the Senate Armed Forces Committee which must pass on Connally's qualifications to be Secretary of the Navy. Case is a mild-mannered man who usually ducks a fight. It's doubtful that he will cross-examine Connally to any great extent. Incidentally, Connally was never put on the witness stand by the McClellan Committee entrusted with investigating the gas lobby.

However, some other Republicans, plus some Democrats believe now might be a good time to dig into the influence of oil as it affects Washington legislation.

These Senators are getting fed up with finding oil influencing both Republicans and Democrats, the Congress and the White House—including the silent partnership of Texas oilman Billy Byars in the Eisenhower farms in Gettysburg.

Skilful Lyndon Johnson

Significantly, the reason there was no penetrating probe of the gas lobby following the attempt to bribe Senator Case was the personable and popular Vice President-elect, Lyndon Johnson.

Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri had introduced a resolution for a broad probe of the gas-oil lobby. Suddenly Johnson called the Senate into a surprise session at 11 a.m., one hour early, and whipped through a restricted investigation to probe only the attempted bribe of Senator Case.

Then he quickly appointed his own special committee and staged an immediate meeting in Vice President Nixon's office to get a ruling as to whether Hennings' standing committee, which had the standing power for a broad investigation, or Johnson's special committee for a restricted investigation, had jurisdiction.

Nixon is supposed to make rulings in public, not private. But some of his biggest backers in California were oilmen. He ruled privately that the special committee for a restricted probe had jurisdiction.

All this took place within the period of two hours. At 1:40 Senator Johnson called Hennings into his office, tossed him a teletyped U.P. message reporting that he, Hennings, had called Senator Case to testify at 2 p.m. "You're in contempt of the Senate," Johnson told his colleague from Missouri. He referred to the quick ruling by Nixon that the special committee, not Hennings' standing committee, should investigate the gas lobbying.

"For three years," countered Hennings, who told me of the incident with great indignation, "I have tried to get off this standing committee. But every time I've tried, you wanted me to stay on — to investigate McCarthy, or the Maryland elections, or Pat Hurley's charges in New Mexico. In deference to you I've stayed. So it seems queer that today you don't want me to investigate something where you yourself said only yesterday the integrity of the Senate was involved."

Johnson, however, was adamant. One of Lyndon's great qualities is loyalty to his friends. His former assistant, John Connally, was the mastermind of the oil-gas lobby. So the special investigation followed very narrow lines. Connally never testified. And today, the same John Connally, who guided Johnson's campaign for President and later for Vice President, comes up for Senate scrutiny to be head of the U. S. Navy, the biggest buyer of oil in the world.

Note — In the end, Elmer Patman and John Neff, lobbyists for Superior Oil of California, were fined only $2,500 each and given only one year suspended sentences for attempting to bribe a U. S. Senator. The U. S. judge who let the two bribers off so lightly was Joseph C. McGarraghy, appointed by Eisenhower after he had served as an Ike delegate to the 1952 GOP convention, and chairman of the Eisenhower-Nixon inaugural parade committee. Neither Howard Keck, head of Superior Oil, nor any of the Keck family were made defendants, though the corporation, which cannot be put in jail, pled guilty and was fined $10,000.

DALLAS MORNING NEWS: Peaceful Beauty

—You can stop worrying about the Red threat. The latest news to come from behind the Iron Curtain is that Russian women look, with artificial aid, just like American women. Yes sir, a female reporter traipsed all over the place visiting beauty shops (they'll be calling them shoppes the first thing you know) and found that Katinka is becoming as much a slave to beauty as her American sister.

When the beauty virus strikes for keeps, Russian men won't be any more inclined toward warlikeness than the American male. When Olga has a weekly set, you know Georgi will be so weak after the set-to for funds that he'll forget about territorial or any other kind of conquest. When the budget blows to bits because of dresses, hats, shoes and all the rest that accompany beauty, you know Ivan won't have the will to suffer for the Politburo—he'll have all his suffering suffered out at home.

The best thing that ever happened for the West, where beauty is the thing and men wreck themselves to pay for it, is the spread of that slave driven to Russia. All hail the cosmetic age!

Balance With a Thousand Frustrations

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Keeping his balance while in motion will be as much of a task for President-elect John F. Kennedy as anything facing him these next four years.

For him standing still would be equivalent to failure. He has to move. He promised it in the campaign.

In trying to get things done, Kennedy will encounter a thousand frustrations. The test of his balance will come in how well he avoids letting his judgment get twisted by exasperation and impatience.

He will learn the agonizing difference between 14 years in Congress and four in the White House.

In Congress he was not a position of leadership, even though he had both a state and national responsibility. Most of the programs he singled out for particular praise or blame.

In trying to persuade other members of the House or Senate to his way of thinking, he had the luxury of knowing that any failure on his part had to be shared by those on his side at the moment.

He will not have that luxury any more. His now is the primary responsibility for seeing that his promised programs get through Congress or are approved by allies and, sometimes, by enemies.

He will be open to criticism, just as were his immediate predecessors: Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower.

Roosevelt had almost subversive support from Congress in the crisis days of the early New Deal. He began to lose it as the sense of emergency got lost in the sense of recovery in the late 1930s.

Truman had firm support in the closing days of the war but after that practically nothing but cat and dog fights with Congress.

Eisenhower, working for most of his eight years with a Congress run by Democrats, got a lot of his programs through but endured a lot of disappointments.

Roosevelt, frustrated and exasperated by opposition in Congress, went to the extreme of trying to purge fellow Democrats and enlarge the Supreme Court.

The fiery Truman was truly exasperated—and showed it—by the roadblocks thrown up by Republicans, particularly the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. His pitched battles with them were famous and often unproductive.

Eisenhower, the opposite of Truman, remained calm, friendly and non-personal with Congress.

But there were times when he probably could have accomplished more if he had fought harder.

With these examples before him, Kennedy knows the great trick in a successful presidency is in somehow creating a minimum of personal antagonism while fighting for and getting what he wants.

Can he do it? He has been unusually well-balanced so far. But his troubles haven't begun.

Feeling a Little Silly

Castro's Invasion Defense Against Marines Fizzles

By HAROLD LAVINE

(DP&R SPECIAL SERVICE)

HAVANA, CUBA — Havana today is suffering from a severe case of anticlimax.

After nearly two weeks of waiting for the U. S. Navy to appear over the horizon and for the U. S. Marines to come swarming ashore, even the militia is beginning to feel a little silly, and everyone is bored.

Many of the Militianas and Militianas have jobs; since they aren't working, they aren't getting paid, and they miss those paychecks. Moreover, whatever plans the government had to feed them apparently have broken down. They're not getting enough to eat — just a couple of sandwiches now and then and some fruit, rarely a hot meal.

All over Havana posters proclaim "Patria O Muerte," fatherland or death. Like all soldiers, however, the Militianas and Militianas would prefer to die with full stomachs.

As a final blow, after ten days of perfect weather, a storm blew up early Tuesday drenching the artillerymen manning guns along the Malecon and flooding the foxholes and trenches. Playing soldier no longer is a lark. It has become uncomfortable.

For the nation, it has become extremely costly as well. With masons and bricklayers and carpenters and plasterers all under arms, construction has ground almost to a halt. With factory hands manning antiaircraft guns and guarding public buildings, production is way down. Most serious of all, the harvesting of the sugar crop is behind schedule: The Campesinos are out patrolling the beaches, leaving their wives and children to bring the crop in. The wives and children aren't doing too well — and Cuba lives off sugar.

Ernesto "Che" Guevara, the cold calculating Marxist revolutionary who runs Cuba's economy, has dared to say publicly what everyone who can think for himself knows — that, if Cuba continues this nonsense, it will eventually wreck itself, the nation has got to stop playing soldier and buckle down to work, Guevara said in effect.

Guevara's words have gone unheeded however, apparently because Fidel Castro believes his own propaganda. So the preparations to repel the anticipated invasion by the U. S. are continuing. Regular army troops have now moved into Havana; in fact the army has been deployed all over the island. Mines are being planted on the highways and tank-traps are being dug.

In spite of the incessant propaganda, the Cubans remain friendly to Americans; those with a shred of sophistication clearly don't believe the Marines are coming no matter what the newspapers and the radio may say. And the government clearly realizes this because the propaganda has begun to change. There is more and more talk about the plans of Cuban exiles in the U. S. to invade the island. Less and less about the possibility of the Marines attacking.

Castro originally said the U. S. planned to invade Cuba by Jan. 18th. The chances are that, after the 18th, he will send the militia home and back to work, announcing that it scared the Marines off. Cuba will then get back to normalcy. Of course, in Cuba normalcy too is a weird, yet wonderful thing.

Ranger Force Sought To Protect Parks

In order to protect state parks property from mounting vandalism and hooliganism, a measure has been proposed in the House of Representatives to establish a park ranger force.

The measure is proposed by Representatives Walter T. Bollinger Jr., (D., Carter), and I. W. Henson, (D., Wayne). Both are members of the House Committee on State Parks, Forestry and Natural Resources of which Rep. James Cordell Skaggs, (D., Reynolds), is chairman. Bollinger is vice-chairman.

The measure, the first to be introduced into the House this session, also would make violation of any rule or regulation of the park board relating to the maintenance or preservation of state parks a misdemeanor. Conviction could mean confinement in the county jail for as much as three months or a fine up to $500.

The ranger force would be patterned after that of the National Park Service System, according to Joe Jaeger Jr., director of state parks. Park rangers would be specially trained and would be qualified peace officers. They would have the power of arrest on state park property.

Jaeger notes that the tide of vandalism and hooliganism in state parks is rising proportionate to that of attendance. Attendance, Jaeger reports, has risen 500 percent in the past 10 years and last year reached an all-time high of more than six million persons.

A recent example of vandalism in a state park, Jaeger says, is the burning of a boat house along with 20 canoes stored inside. The parks director also says that litterbugging is becoming an increasing problem with more and more persons choosing to discard their trash in the various springs and streams or along the roadways rather than in special receptacles provided.

Jaeger says that if the legislature grants authority for a park ranger force, plans are to activate the force at first in six parks, including the five having greatest attendance. These are Bennett Springs, Roaring River, Montauk, Lake Ozarks, Table Rock and Meramec.

Withholding Tax Bills Introduced

Bills have been introduced in both the House and Senate which would require employers to withhold state income taxes for all employees, subject to exemptions.

The House bill is sponsored by Representatives Aschmeyer, Hickey, Bauer, Hayner, Griffin, Walsh, Young (St. Louis County), Rabbitt (St. Louis County), and Rooney. The Senate bill was introduced by Sen. Frank S. Reller, of Wentzville.

A withholding plan is supported by Gov. John M. Dalton.

Those favoring such a plan point out that it would bring in more income tax dollars for the state than it is now practicable to collect.

Opponents call it a "foot in the door" for future "painless" increases in state income tax and argue also that cost of collection to the state would tend to offset gains in revenue; that the present method of checking state with federal returns and reporting incomes out of state employees working in Missouri is sufficient if vigorously pursued; and that collection costs for employers would be burdensome unless they be compensated more than either bill now provides.

Commission On Aged Proposed In House

A Commission on Problems of Aging and Aged has been proposed in the House of Representatives.

Two measures are being considered presently. The first was introduced by Representatives Cantrell, Kostron, Garrett, Neal and White. A more extensive measure was introduced by Representatives Baltz, Chinn and Cantrell.

A permanent commission was deemed an "urgent necessity" by the Missouri Committee for the 1961 White House Conference on Aging.

In both measures proposed, the function of the commission would be to investigate the problems of the aging and aged and suggest methods to eliminate such problems wherever possible.

Walsh Introduces Vote Machine Bill

Rep. Thomas A. Walsh, D. St. Louis, introduced a measure requiring the alternating of candidates' names on voting machines.

The measure provides that candidates names be alternated on an equal number of voting machines used in an election and that voting machines bearing the various arrangements of names be alternated among voting places.

The bill would tend to eliminate the advantage of filing first so as to get at the head of the list.

The bill also would discourage the political stratagem of filing first and having a couple of friends or "ringers" file afterwards so as to put any serious opponent in a vote getting disadvantage by forcing his name into a second row on the machine.

While the measure would affect primarily many hundreds of metropolitan area office holders since voting machines are used primarily in the metropolitan areas, outstate Missouri can be considered to have a stake in the measure too since outstate candidates for statewide office can be victimized by ardent early filers.

State Industrial Bond Commission Proposed

A measure governing the issuance by a municipality of general obligation bonds for industrial development has been introduced into the House.

The measure was introduced by Representatives Robert E. Young, (R., Jasper), and Earl A. Bollinger, (D., Madison).

A nine-man Industrial Development Bond Commission would be established to investigate and pass upon any general obligation bond issue for industrial development proposed by a municipality before such an issue could be submitted to the voters.

Municipalities were granted the power to issue general obligation bonds for industrial development pursuant to law upon two-thirds vote of their citizens last Fall by passage of a constitutional amendment.

Jim Idol, director of the Division of Resources and Development, says the nine-man commission presumably would be composed of experts in the bond and banking field. They would seek to prevent "fly-by-night operators" and other undesirables from preying on municipalities seeking to develop industry by issuance of general obligation bonds.

The House measure would require municipalities to apply to the commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to submitting a general obligation bond issue for industrial development to voters.

In determining whether or not the certificate shall be issued, the commission shall consider whether the authorization will further economic development and employment, will add materially to the general welfare of the municipality, and will not become a burden on the taxpayers.

The measure also prescribes the manner in which such bond issues shall be submitted to the voters.

Annual reports to the commission by a municipality issuing general obligation bonds for industrial development would be required.

County Bonds Sales Reach 95% In '60

J. J. McGrath, Savings Bond Chairman for Pettis County, today announced that December Bond sales of $54,633 completed the county's 1960 total at $937,502, or 95.1 per cent of the year's assigned quota.

"I am indeed sorry that ours is not a 'Quota County' in sales of U.S. Savings Bonds during 1960," said the Chairman. "Those of us who did not buy as many Bonds as we could this past year have lost a great opportunity. Everyone loses, too, the additional economic security that could have been stored away in Bonds, to be called upon when needed."

"The new year of 1961, however, gives everyone a chance to start over—and that refers to saving money, too. I urge my fellow citizens to make sure that each adds to his or her personal reserves and status during this next year, by buying as many U.S. Savings Bonds as possible. Such a rewarding resolve, if carried out, will make 1961 a red-letter year for us all."

Arthur K. Atkinson, Missouri Savings Bond Chairman, also gave the December Bonds sales figures of $11,243,718 for the state, making a year's total of $139,273,576 or 89.8 per cent of the 1960 quota. "Make 1961 your best year," urged Mr. Atkinson. "Resolve to increase your financial resources and standing by buying more U.S. Savings Bonds in the coming months."

CAUSES OF FATAL ACCIDENTS IN MISSOURI HOMES, 1959

MANY FALLS ARE FATAL—Falls caused 386 of the total of 740 home fatalities recorded in Missouri in 1959. Next biggest causes of fatal home accidents were fire and burns, suffocation and fire arms. Home accidents took nearly as large a toll as Missouri traffic accidents—740 compared to 1030. University of Missouri extension safety specialists say these figures show how important it is for families to conduct a continuous campaign against accidents in the home.

Price Supports Blamed

Ike Says Farm Programs To Cost Taxpayers More

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today federal farm programs will cost taxpayers more in the coming fiscal year than this year, largely because Congress has failed to reduce price supports on crops.

His budget report for the 1962 fiscal year beginning next July 1 estimated expenditures for purely farm programs and protection of agricultural resources at $5.1 billion—up $165 million over the current year and $263 million over the previous year.

Expenditures for all activities of the Agriculture Department—which includes some programs and agencies not classed as purely agricultural, such as the Forest Service, the school lunch program and foreign relief—were forecast at $5,782,000,000 compared with $5,739,000,000 for the current year. The biggest item in the department's spending would be $3.4 billion for stabilization of farm prices and income, including price supports and farm subsidies. This compared with $3.3 billion estimated for the current year.

There is a possibility that changes in farm programs by the Kennedy administration would alter the expenditure figure.

As he had done in past budget reports, Eisenhower took a rap at current price support laws.

"Each year that the current unrealistic price support program is continued complicates further the production adjustments that will have to be made before present government controls over farm operations can be relaxed," he said.

The President said the most urgent need in the field of farm legislation is a new wheat program because of a huge surplus of that grain.

The budget recommended an extension of the soil bank program for retiring crop land under rental payments. Congress turned down a similar request last year.

The President asked, as he did in other recent budgets, that funds for the agricultural conservation program be reduced to $100 million a year. But recent Congresses have ignored this recommendation by authorizing outlays of $250 million a year.

The President repeated past recommendations that financing of rural electrification and rural telephone projects be shifted from the government funds to a federally-chartered lending agency using privately-obtained funds.

The budget also recommended that the farm surplus disposal program be extended beyond its Dec. 31, 1961, expiration date.

Other proposed expenditure figures for the coming fiscal year compared with this year included: School lunch program $155 million next year and $155.1 million this year; agricultural research $267.7 million and $238 million; rural electrification and telephone loans $330 million and $18 million; soil conservation service $162.6 million and $150.6 million; loans to low-income farmers $232.5 million and $303.5 million; emergency famine relief to friendly peoples $140.8 million and $275 million.

For construction work on the Broken Bow reservoir in Oklahoma, the President budgeted $1 million.

Among Arkansas projects, $12.5 million was proposed for the Greers Ferry reservoir multiple purpose project.

Crossed Chicken and Turkey

Poultry Expert Evaluates Highlights, Trends of '61

By WALTER RUSSELL
MU Extension Poultryman

About this time each year most of us like to look back to the year just passed and try to pick out the highlights of the old year, study trends, and evaluate things in general. Today I'd like to do that in the field of poultry.

I suppose the most intriguing thing that happened in 1960 was the announcement that a chicken and turkey had been crossed. Most of us thought this was impossible. Like the featherless turkey, this cross never had any commercial value.

We heard a lot of talk in 1960 about the need for poultrymen to specialize in a single enterprise. But, the interesting thing here was the fact we saw industry groups moving in the opposite direction. Giant corporations branched out into new fields. Mergers of various companies were common. A good example of this was the merger of two giants in the broiler business—Arbor Acres and Nichols Poultry Farms, Inc. In addition, this merger purchased Mount Hope Leghorn Farm and entered the market with an egg type chick.

Pricewise, 1960 was a pretty good year for poultrymen. It didn't make any difference whether you produced eggs, turkeys or broilers, you still ended the year with more net profit than in 1959.

We saw a slight trend away from contract production in 1960; particularly the guaranteed wage type of contract. Many folks in poultry industry believe now we will return to the old system with the producer in complete control of production. The producer will finance his own operation and take the full risk on market prices. Independent broiler producers in Virginia last year made twice as much profit per bird as those in the same area operating on contract.

The year will be remembered for its census reports. The census story in the poultry business was mainly one of growth and mortality. Regardless of what was counted, it seemed to add up to fewer but bigger units. In Missouri we were surprised to learn the number of farms selling eggs had declined 36 per cent in the past five years. The number of broiler and turkey producers also declined but the volume output per farm increased.

Poultry processors were called a variety of names in 1960; none of them were exactly complimentary. But, although processors caught most of the blame for condemnation losses in poultry, it wasn't their fault. It was a hard job, in many cases, to find out who was to blame for the many broilers and turkeys being condemned. At least, toward the end of the year it appeared to most folks that federal inspection was here to stay so they started looking at what they might do to solve some of their problems.

In the egg picture, we saw a feed company enter the egg business with a flock of 100,000 hens. Some people who saw this happen jumped to the conclusion that this

Gasoline Tax Boost Proposed In 1962 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fiscal 1962 budget proposes: TAXES: A 1/2-cent boost in federal gasoline tax, to 4 1/2 cents a gallon. Higher aviation fuel tax. Other rates to continue.

POSTAGE: Prompt rate increases to wipe out $843 million postal deficit. No specific new rates suggested.

SPENDING: Up $2 billion from this year, to a peacetime record of nearly $80.9 billion. Defense upped to $42.9 billion.

INCOME: Up $3.3 billion to more than $82.3 billion, on the assumption of a business pickup.

SURPLUS: Close to $1.5 billion. Will be used to reduce federal debt to $283.4 billion by June 30, 1962.

Your Budget Share Is Set at $436.83

WASHINGTON (AP)—Your share of President Eisenhower's new spending budget is $436.83. That's the way the record outlay of $80.9 billion works out when divided by 185.2 million—the estimated population next Jan. 1, midpoint of the 1962 fiscal year.

The total is $3.79 higher for every man, woman and child than the per capita cost of this year's $78.9 billion federal spending.

There will be about 3 million more Americans to share the load a year hence, but the budget total is $2 billion higher.

was going to develop into a major trend—the family type flock would be out of the picture. Well, we will just have to wait and see if this happens. My personal opinion is that extremely large operations are going to have a rough time competing with bona-fide farmers.

Let's don't spend too much time looking backward. We have a big job ahead of us this year in keeping up-to-date. Now is a good time to start planning your poultry operation for 1961. Plan where you are going to sell your eggs or poultry meat. See what you can do to cut feed costs and reduce labor in taking care of the poultry flock.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was asked by President Eisenhower today to provide $70.5 million for flood control work on the lower Mississippi River and its tributaries in the year starting July 1.

The amount would be nearly $1,500,000 below the $71,896,000 appropriated for this program last year.

The individual projects with recommended appropriations for each include:

Arkansas, $7,248,000.

Construction: Lower Arkansas River, $530,000; Lower White River, $550,000; St. Francis Basin, Ark., and Mo., $4,635,000; Boeuf and Tensas Rivers, $1,300,000.

Maintenance and operation: White River backwater, $50,000; Augusta to Clarendon, $3,000; north bank, Arkansas River, $68,000; south bank, $5,000; St. Francis River, Mo., and Ark., $107,000; Missouri, $131,000.

World Farm Output To Hit Record High

World output of farm products for the fiscal year ending this coming June is expected to reach an all-time record. Production is forecast at two per cent above last year's record and 42 per cent, nearly twice as much, as was produced at the 1935 to 1939 level.

Substantial increases in the U. S., Western Europe, Western Asia, Africa, Australia and New Zealand will be off set some by decreases in Latin America, Communist Bloc countries and the Far East.

This USDA report indicates that the volume of U. S. Agricultural output is about equal to that of Mainland China and almost 60 per cent larger than the Soviet Union's.

MU Releases Booklet On India Work

A new booklet has been released by University of Missouri's College of Agriculture about its project in India.

The University, along with four other land-grant institutions, is taking a leading role in helping that Asian country boost itself through agriculture.

"The most important reason for this kind of program," says director of the India effort, John H. Longwell, "lies in the fact that India is the only nation now operating under a constitutional democracy in all of South Asia." It borders Red China. Nations are watching the contest between the two forms of government—democracy and communism.

The University's work with India is supported by International Cooperative Administration funds. Six University staff members are now in India helping develop agricultural research, teaching and extension programs. Also, 35 men from India have come to the University to study. The new booklet, "University of Missouri Goes to India" is available at county extension offices.

New Spring Oat Variety Is Developed

A new spring oat variety has been developed by the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The oat variety has been named Nodaway, according to Emmett Pinnell, chairman of the field crops department.

The Nodaway has early maturity, strong roots and stiff straw which give it good standing ability. It is moderately resistant to crown rust and present races of stem rust. The grain is plump and has good yielding ability.

According to J. M. Poehlman, plant breeder in charge of development, the new oat has excellent seed quality. The kernels are white, short, plump, and have the highest test weight of any variety commonly grown in Missouri.

Nodaway also has good milling qualities, Poehlman says. Maturity date of Nodaway is comparable to Macon and Min-hafer. It ripens a couple of days earlier than Clintland oats.

In four years of testing it has produced an average 69 bushels per acre—the highest of any variety grown. Macon averaged 67 bushels per acre.

Some 1300 bushels of Nodaway seed is being distributed to certified seed growers this year.

The new oat variety was developed from a cross first made at the Missouri Experiment Station ten years ago.

Expect Capacity Lawrence Crowd

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketball powers Kansas State and Kansas meet in a crucial game that's expected to attract a capacity crowd of 17,000 to Allen Field House in Lawrence Friday night.

The Kansas State Wildcats (11-2), ranked No. 9 nationally last week, and the Kansas Jayhawks (9-4), preseason favorite to win the Big Eight championship, each won easily last Saturday.

Kansas State shook off a slow start and cold shooting to beat Oklahoma (8-5) at Manhattan 69-57 for the Cats' second conference victory.

Kansas took over first place with three victories after beating Iowa State 90-59 in Lawrence.

Friday's game will be the second meeting of the season for the two teams. Kansas State won 69-66 in overtime in the finals of the Big Eight's December tournament. That one didn't count in the league race.

The teams tied for the Big Eight championship last year by splitting their regular two-game series, but Kansas beat the Wildcats 84-82 in overtime in a play-off game for the NCAA District Five tournament berth.

On two-year probation by the NCAA, Kansas isn't eligible for the national collegiate tournament in March but the Jayhawks are very much interested in winning the Big Eight crown.

The Jayhawks showed tremendous power in blasting Iowa State. Wayne Hightower scored 31 points for the Hawks and Bill Bridges added 29. The two also dominated play under both back boards.

Kansas also has a league game with Oklahoma State in Lawrence tonight. That one shouldn't cause the Jayhawks too much trouble, however, since Oklahoma State has lost three conference games in a row, the last to Missouri 82-73 Saturday.

Only three other Big Eight games figure in the light schedule. Oklahoma will meet Colorado in Boulder tonight, and Saturday night Iowa State will be at Nebraska and Oklahoma at Missouri. Iowa State entertains Drake of the Missouri Valley Wednesday.

Larry Comley and Ced Price, with 21 and 15 points respectively, paced K-State's victory over Oklahoma.

Joe Scott scored 31 points and Charles Henke added 22 as Missouri broke an 8-game losing streak at the expense of Oklahoma State. The victory enabled the Tigers to climb into a tie with Iowa State for fifth place at 1-2.

Colorado got even with Nebraska by beating the Cornhuskers 66-51 as Ken Charlton scored 20 points. Nebraska had beaten the Buffaloes 65-61 in overtime Monday.

Swede Helps Keep Down Wilt's Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Swede Halbrook has not been any offensive dynamo in his rookie year with the Syracuse Nats. But he seems to know his way around the National Basketball Association defensively.

The 7-foot-3 inch rookie from Oregon State used every bit of it Sunday in helping keep down Wilt's Chamberlain's 38-points per game average as the Nats beat the Philadelphia Warriors 116-113.

The loss was particularly distasteful for the Warriors for they dropped three games behind the Boston Celtics in the race for first place in the Eastern Division. Boston easily disposed of the last-place New York Knicks, 142-124. Detroit dumped St. Louis, the Western Division leaders, 137-122 and Cincinnati pushed Los Angeles into the Western cellar with a 109-105 victory.

Halbrook held Chamberlain to 24 points and had a hand in a 12-0 streak that put the game out of reach at 83-66 in the third period. When the Warriors got to within 115-113 in the last few seconds Dick Barnett caged a free throw to nail down the victory.

Bob Cousy and Tommy Heinsohn sparked a furious first half point spree, marked by a 40-point second period, and the Knicks never had a chance. Heinsohn and Bill Sharman were the big guns in a 22-8 spurt that brought Boston from a 20-13 deficit and put New York behind at early.

Detroit fell behind early, 18-5, trailed 68-64 at halftime then spurred in the second half and St. Louis never caught up. Early in the fourth quarter Gene Shue hit three straight baskets and George Lee and Don Ohl one each that helped wrap things up.

Cincinnati had a hot third period in beating the Lakers. Jack Twyman provided the spark with 11 of his 31 points in the period and Oscar Robertson added much of the playmaking.

Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor led the scorers with 37 points, 25 in the first half, and his rookie teammate Jerry West had 27. Robertson also finished with 27.

Cincinnati, Drake Meet This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Bearcats, champions the past three seasons, and the Drake Bulldogs will meet in the only Missouri Valley Conference basketball game this week.

The Bearcats and Bulldogs will check in with identical Valley records of 3-2 for the game in Des Moines Friday night. Overall, Cincinnati is 11-1 and Drake 10-3.

The No. 2 ranked Bradley Braves (13-1), St. Louis (10-5), Tulsa (6-7) and North Texas State (1-11) will be idle this week.

Cincinnati and Drake also will be involved in the three-game non-conference slate. Cincinnati entertains Duquesne Tuesday night. Drake plays at Iowa State of the Big Eight Wednesday. Wichita is host to Oklahoma City University Saturday.

Bradley, Cincinnati and Drake each won conference games last Saturday.

Bradley, which suffered its only loss of the season to Houston on Thursday, swamped weak North Texas 110-72 as Chet Walker poured in 40 points and grabbed 23 rebounds. It was the Braves' fifth league victory without a loss.

Wichita's Shockers made easy work of Drake 90-70 at Wichita with Ron Heller scoring 24 points and four other starters hitting in double figures. It was Wichita's second league victory against two losses and put the Shockers in fourth place.

Cincinnati climbed into a tie with St. Louis for second place at 3-2 by beating Tulsa 92-75.

Sophomore Tom Thacker scored 22 points for Cincinnati and teammate Bob Wiesenbahn threw in 21.

Houston Cougars, who pulled out of the Missouri Valley last spring, turned on their old family for the second time in the week by whipping the St. Louis Billikens 75-67 in Houston. Ted Luckenbill, who scored 28 points, did the most damage to the cold-shooting Billikens.

Cookie Joins In a Salute To Baseball

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Manager Cookie Lavagetto, joining a midwinter salute to the arrival of major league baseball here, today envisioned the Minnesota Twins playing better than .500 baseball in their inaugural year.

A lot will depend, he said, on how quickly fielding whiz Zorro Versalles becomes a big leaguer.

"He's got all he needs to play major league shortstop," Lavagetto said. "The only thing he needs is the feeling that he belongs up there."

Cookie today makes his first twin Cities public appearance since his ball club was uprooted from Washington, where he finished fifth in the American League last year with a 73-81 record.

The Senators had miseries at shortstop, and Versalles is a 20-year-old Cuban who could dissolve them.

"We're giving him first shot at the job and we hope he holds it," Lavagetto said. "Among our young fellows he's got to be the key man. We're also looking to Ralph Lumenti and Kitty Kaat (Jim) to make it with our pitching staff."

"But as for regular positions, we're pretty well filled up. You've got fellows like Jim Lemon, Bob Allison and Lennie Green in the outfield, Harv (Killebrew) at first and Billy Gardner and Reno Bertoia at second and third, all proven players."

Lavagetto shied away from lavish promises.

"I think you'll find a closer race in the American League this year. The Yankees, Baltimore and Chicago have got to be rated up there. But other ball clubs are going to have a lot to say. As for us, I figure we ought to play better than .500 ball, at least."

The ex-Senators' rising curve of success over the last three seasons tends to support Cookie. The addition to the American League this year of two new clubs with thrown-together rosters makes the Twins' outlook even glossier.

Baseball fans from Minneapolis-St. Paul and throughout the state will pay $7.50 a plate tonight at a dinner officially welcoming their new major league tenants.

Basketball Hits Slack

New 'Big O' In College Cage; Buckeyes Eying Domination

Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a new Big O in college basketball these days—Ohio State's Buckeyes, who collectively are bent on dominating the game with ability, poise and consistency the way Oscar (Big O) Robertson did at Cincinnati the last three years.

Basketball hits the slack, mid-term exam period today with Ohio State's defending NCAA champions carrying a 12-0 season record, a nation-leading 17-game winning streak, a well-balanced attack led by All-America Jerry Lucas and clear cut ranking as the best team around.

Only Ohio State and unranked DePaul, now 11-0 with a 12-game winning streak, remain unbeaten among the major teams. Coach Ray Meyer's Demons, who passed a severe test by whipping previously unbeaten Louisville 78-70 Saturday, have a series of rugged road games coming up, starting Tuesday at Notre Dame. The Irish have a 22-game home court winning streak.

If Notre Dame can't manage it, DePaul has road dates against Indiana, Western Kentucky, Marquette, Providence and St. Bonaventure during the next month.

Ohio State, with Lucas' ailing knee apparently almost recovered, stays within a Big Ten conference schedule the rest of the way—resuming Saturday against Minnesota. The Buckeyes, who got 30 points from Lucas in a 79-45 rout of Northwestern last Saturday, seem to be free of upset trouble until the middle of next month, when they have back-to-back road games at Iowa Feb. 18 and Indiana on Saturday.

North Carolina, which has boosted ana Feb. 20, Indiana was the only Big Ten team to beat Ohio State last year.

Iowa, ranked sixth nationally last week, is coming on—having won nine straight for an 11-1 season record. The Hawks have joined Bradley (13-1), St. Bonaventure (13-1) and beaten only by Ohio State, North Carolina (10-2), Duke (13-1) Kansas State (11-2), Louisville (13-1), Southern California (11-2), and Mississippi State (10-3) in the first tier of challengers to the Big O of the Big Ten.

Except for Bradley, Southern Cal and Duke, who take a two-week break during the exam period, each has a chance to improve its credentials during the next week.

Third-ranked St. Bonaventure, which rode Tom Stith's 46 points to an 88-68 rout of Niagara last Saturday, plays Canisius at Buffalo next Saturday. Fourth-ranked Louisville is at Xavier of Ohio Wednesday and home to Dayton in the national TV game Saturday afternoon. St. Johns, 10-2, after losing to St. Joseph's (Pa.) and beating St. Francis (N.Y.) last week, is idle. But Iowa has a pair of Big Ten games—at home against Illinois tonight and at Purdue its winning streak to eight since the probationary action of the NCAA last week, is at Maryland tonight and at North Carolina State Wednesday. Kansas State, No. 9, plays Kansas for the Big Eight lead Friday, after running its win string to ten, 69-57 over Oklahoma.

Mississippi State, which spilled previously unbeaten Vanderbilt 74-65 last Saturday, gets a chance to further establish itself as the Southeastern Conference favorite with a pair of home games—Georgia Tech tonight and Mississippi Saturday.

Other major pairings tonight include Michigan at Michigan State, Northwestern at Minnesota, Wake Forest at Clemson, Vanderbilt at Mississippi, Toledo at Ohio U., The Citadel at Furman, Oklahoma State at Kansas, Oklahoma at Colorado, and Texas A&M at Texas.

Paul Pender In Seclusion After His Win

BOSTON (AP)—Paul Pender went into seclusion after making (1) a successful defense of his version of the world middleweight title and (2) a national television challenge of Gene Fullmer, but his manager had some choice words to say.

"He'd cut Fullmer to pieces," said crusty old Johnny Buckley. "I'm positive Fullmer is afraid of him."

From the Fullmer camp in West Jordan, Utah, came a conflicting report.

Marv Jensen, Fullmer's manager, said his bruising slugger would be "more than happy to fight Pender any place he's not recognized as champion."

He is recognized in Massachusetts, New York and Europe. Fullmer owns the National Boxing Association version of the crown. He is scheduled to defend against Sugar Ray Robinson Feb. 25.

"I want the winner of the Fullmer-Robinson fight," Pender said just after disposing of game young Terry Downes in seven rounds Saturday night. "I want that one real bad. I want to clear up this mess about the title."

Fifteen stitches were required to repair the damage Pender wrought on Downes' face. The fight was stopped with the 24-year-old Londoner bleeding profusely from a long, deep gash over the bridge of the nose. That took 12 stitches, and 3 more closed up an eye cut.

"Sharp, he was," Downes admitted before leaving for Baltimore.

Pender was ahead on all cards. He used a picture left to render Terry's face as early as the first round, threw some surprising right hands and was in complete control of the fight except for the third round when Downes broke through the stabbing left for a two-handed assault to the body.

Pender scored a knockdown with a right hand in the first round and in other rounds abandoned his usual cautious, defensive style to mix it up.

Jensen, who said he watched the fight on television, said Fullmer "is and always has been ready to meet Pender. I hope we can make the fight for Las Vegas June 10."

"Fullmer has been ducking Paul," Buckley countered. "I've got a contract in my pocket now for a Fullmer-Pender fight that Fullmer ran out on a year ago last March. I'd like to have the fight on the (West) Coast or in New York in the summer."

Pender, 30, said his only difficulty in the fight was that he felt a little stale from inactivity.

"I hadn't fought in six months," he said. "I'd like to fight about every three months."

Asked if he would like to fight Carmen Basilio, Paul said he would.

"I don't know anything about that," Buckley said.

Claims Indoor Record In the 2-Mile Event

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Murray Halberg, who should run in strange surroundings more often, today can claim an indoor world record in the two-mile event.

Halberg found himself in Portland Saturday night about to run on a board track for the first time in his life. He didn't have on his own shoes, his own long spikes being good only outdoors.

So the little New Zealander, who won the 5,000-meter race in the last olympics, bore down. He won by 80 yards and clipped nearly 12 seconds from the recognized indoor two-mile mark.

The time was 8:34.3 minutes. The recognized mark was 8:46, set by Al Lawrence, an Australian enrolled at Houston University, last year.

Unitas a Conquering Hero For Second Straight Year

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baltimore's magnificent Johnny Unitas today was the conquering hero for the second straight year after passing and running the West to a 35-31 victory over the East in the 11th annual Pro Bowl.

A Memorial Coliseum crowd of 62,971, sweltering in summer-like weather Sunday, watched Unitas and Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin engaged in a savage quarterback duel in the traditional post-season game of National Football League All Stars.

Van Brocklin, who has announced his retirement, almost—but not quite—made his finale from a dozen years in the pro wars a glorious one. He passed for three touchdowns.

Unitas passed for only one score, but the lanky veteran directed four other touchdown marches.

Unitas was voted the player of the game for the second straight year.

Coach Vince Lombardi of the West and Buck Shaw of the East agreed: The difference in the finely-balanced squads was Unitas' running.

Unitas carried the ball five times for a 10.80 yard average. Each time the runs pulled the West out of a hole and one—a 25-yard sprint in the fourth quarter—set up a touchdown.

The Baltimore bombardier was deadly in the air. One toss to teammate Lenny Moore took the West 66 yards to the one yard line from where Green Bay's Jim Taylor crashed over for the six points.

The touchdown was one of three Taylor picked up for a new Pro Bowl scoring record. Los Angeles' John Arnett scampered 20 yards for another West score and Unitas passed 44-yards to Moore for another touchdown.

But Van Brocklin's aerial bombs were on target, too. Van connected for three touchdown passes to Tommy McDonald, Pete Retzlaff and Sonny Randle for 46.

Palmer Back In His Old Golf Niche

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The remarkable Arnold Palmer was back in his accustomed niche in golf today, meaning the top.

Fully recovered from the shock of an unbelievable experience in the rich Los Angeles open on a date he'll never forget—Jan. 6—Palmer headed for the Big Crosby tournament with the winner's paycheck in his pocket from the $20,000 San Diego Open Tournament.

Put aside momentarily at least was the recollection of the terrible 12 he took on one hole in Los Angeles and the score that didn't even qualify him for the final two rounds.

Palmer, the National Open and money-winning champion last year, agreed that the victory here Sunday took a lot of doing.

It took a 6-under-par 65 and a birdie 3 on the extra hole sudden death playoff to down plucky Al Balding of Canada. It took an amazing 40-foot putt for an eagle and several other great shots to win the $2,800 first money.

Balding collected $1,900, plus $100 more when the tournament chairman, Tom Lanphier, "accidentally" made the check out for $2,000.

Gary Player, of South Africa, finished with a 275 for $1,400 with a last round 68. Tied at 276 for $1,100 each were Dow Finsterwald, with a 70, and Frank Stranahan and Don January, each with 68.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Water is a pressing need in many fast-growing parts of this country and the world. And both industry and government are reporting breakthroughs in methods of extracting usable water from the two great remaining sources, sea water and brackish water.

Marines Assigned To Western Pacific

Marine Pfc. James D. Burrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Burrus, 2514 Wing, and Marine 1st Lt. James W. Scott, son of S. C. Scott, Hughesville, and husband of the former Carolyn A. Tenme of Leslie, Mo. are serving with the First Battalion, Seventh Marine Regiment, on assignment to the Third Provisional Battalion Landing Team. The landing team operates from ships of the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

An amphibious infantry unit of the Third Marine Division at Okinawa, the battalion will be at sea for approximately two months.

is being test marketed in the Southwest. Big-scale sea-water operations are in use or about to be installed in such widely separated points as the West Indies and Israel.

Costs have been the big stumbling block. The goal is to get them below 50 cents per thousand gallons, which would make conversion competitive with natural water in many areas. Research efforts in both government and private industry laboratories are reported showing great promise today.

The search for more water also goes on in the older fields of conserving rainfall and controlling runoffs in rivers. Congress is expected to be asked for more funds for such developments and also for preventing pollution of streams or for purifying them.

Industry's stake is high since industrial use of water is growing at a faster rate than the domestic use by the world's booming population. Mining, plastics, chemicals and pharmaceutical industries are especially heavy users.

A home unit using thin membranes and electric current to dissolve and remove salts is being tested in Texas by the American Machine & Foundry Co. AMF has a big electrodialysis membrane unit in use in a plant of the Libyan Public Development and Stabilization Agency at Tobruk which converts 20,000 gallons of brackish water a day into drinking water.

Distillation is a traditional method but too expensive in the past for most areas. AMF now has a small heat evaporator unit supplying fresh water from sea water on pleasure and work boats and for use in homes.

Another method is to freeze the salts out. Blaw-Knox suggests using butane as both refrigerant and melting agent, which it says should bring the cost way down. Struthers Wells and Scientific Design Corp. have teamed in a freezing process they say cuts costs sharply.

Fairbanks Whitney is building for the Israeli government desalting units aimed at purifying 250,000 gallons a day for that thirsty nation at a cost they say will be lower than any in previously built big units.

Several other American companies are in the water-purifying business, including Westinghouse Electric and Ionics.

Government agencies say average daily use of water for all purposes in the United States is 300 billion gallons, up from 200 billion 10 years ago. They expect it to go to around 500 billion a day by 1980. At present a dry year can bring water use restriction to as many as 1,000 U.S. cities and communities.

We have available an average of 515 billion gallons a day of fresh water. This would be enough if it were distributed evenly. But it isn't, and many sections are short now, and others are threatened with shortages in dry years.

Weather Bureau Operating With A New Teletype

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau began operation today of a teletype system that transmits 1,100 words a minute.

Called ADIS (automatic data interchange system), the new teletype network connects five central weather stations — at Cleveland, Atlanta, Fort Worth, Tex., San Francisco and the central center at Kansas City.

The central stations send data to local bureaus on a 100-word-a-minute teletype circuit.

ADIS will keep airlines and weather forecasters abreast of hourly weather conditions in all of the United States, and parts of Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean.

The network was developed after more than three years of planning. It has about $20 million worth of equipment.

Link Murder Trial Begins In Hermann

HERMANN, Mo. — The first degree murder trial of crime reporter Theodore C. Link of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch was to begin in Circuit Court here today.

Link, 55, is charged with the slaying of Clarence W. Calvin, 35-year-old farmhand once employed as a part-time handyman around Link's summer home near St. Albans.

The handyman was shot with a pistol and a shotgun after Link found him digging in the burned-out ruins of the summer home.

The trial was brought here on a change of venue.

Fred Howard of Jefferson City, an assistant state attorney general, has been assigned to help prosecute the case. With him will be Charles E. Hansen of Union, retired Franklin County prosecuting attorney, and the man who succeeded him, Charles Moll.

Henry G. Morris of St. Louis is Link's chief attorney.

Hansen said the state will present 16 to 20 witnesses, among them Link's son, 12-year-old Theodore Jr., who saw the shooting.

Link pleaded innocent and has been free on $25,000 bond.

He claimed he killed Calvin in self-defense when Calvin attacked him with a switch-blade knife and three-pronged hoe.

The reporter's son gave a version of the shooting at a coroner's inquest that conflicted with his father's description.

The boy said Calvin was seated at a picnic table when the first of two shotgun blasts were fired and that he was on the ground when three revolver shots were fired.

The newsman said Calvin was on his feet until the last shot was fired.

John Houston Finished With Gable Film

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Houston had just put the finishing touches on his two-hour tribute to Clark Gable.

The director had viewed the final version of "The Misfits" and made a few minor changes. Then it was sent to the labs to rush prints for a mass release next month. His work finally behind him, he relaxed over marinated herring and a beer and talked about what turned out to be the most publicized film in recent years.

"I think Clark is great in it," said Houston, a man with a long, weathered face and a gray skull cap of hair. "He liked the part. He thought it was the best he had had in 20 years."

"Our first desire was to get the picture out in time for the Academy Awards because I felt sure he'd be nominated. It would have been nice to have it happen while his memory was still fresh. But the picture would have suffered if we had hurried that much. So next year he can be nominated."

"Marilyn (Monroe) is excellent in it, and Monty Clift is fantastic. Yes, I am very happy with the picture."

Would he work again with Marilyn?

"I don't think there's much I can add to the vast literature about Marilyn," he said evasively. "I can't cure the world's ignorance on this matter. When people talk about her, they are generally talking about themselves. They don't really know her."

About Gable, Houston said: "I had known Clark for a number of years but never very well. I had the impression of him as having kind of implacability, even a lethargy. I discovered in working with him that this was only a facade."

"Underneath he was very earnest, even eager to please. Whenever he had a call, he was always on the set a half-hour early, always ready with his lines. Only once did he ever blow up."

"That was due to a misunderstanding about whether he was called for a rehearsal. His wife had to fly from Reno to Los Angeles to see the baby doctor, and he wanted to go with her; he was more excited about having a baby than anything in the world. She went alone, and he found out he wasn't needed on the set after all. He blew sky high."

"The rest of the time, everything went smoothly. We started at 10:30 in the morning because of Marilyn, and he was always there at 10. He worked until 6 but would have stayed later if we needed him. He was in his best shape in years and seemed extremely happy in his marriage. Now he is gone. It's pretty hard to get used to."

The supersonic, four-engine Convair turbojet streaked over the California-Arizona desert Saturday at an average speed of 1,284.73, nearly 100 miles per hour better than a record set two days earlier in another B58.

Receiving the trophy given to military personnel for outstanding air speed achievements will be the pilot, Maj. Harold E. Confer, McCook, Nev.; Maj. Richard H. Weir, Pasadena, Calif., and Capt. Howard S. Bialas, Birmingham, Ala.

Belgium Work Force Ends 28-Day Strike

BRUSSELS (AP) — Much of Belgium's work force returned to their jobs today after 28 days of mass strikes. But a police patrol and demonstrators exchanged shots in Chenée, near Liege, and two demonstrators were reported seriously wounded.

Police said a small group of strikers attacked a trolley being escorted by police.

Socialist trade unions called the strike in an effort to force the government to withdraw its austerity program of higher taxes and cuts in social security benefits.

Take Loaded Trailer From Trucking Firm

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A large trailer loaded with 860 cases of soap was stolen from a trucking firm's lot Sunday.

The soap, manufactured here, was destined for East St. Louis, Ill.

Police said the aluminum trailer was pulled away by a large red tractor with a sleeper compartment.

Police Find No Clues in Rape Of a Woman, 80

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police say they have found no clues in the rape-slating Saturday of 80-year-old Miss Theresa Elizabeth Kirchner.

Miss Kirchner left home at 5:45 a. m. Saturday to attend early mass at a Catholic church on Kansas City's east side. She didn't reach the church. A 9-year-old boy found her, semi-conscious, in an alley at 11 a. m.

She died Saturday night without regaining consciousness from effects of a brutal beating.

A $100 reward for solution of the crime was offered by John Mansour, owner of a drug store in the area.

"I think if people get together and help, we can put a stop to such things," Mansour said. "They should be stopped at any cost."

Police said a small group of strikers attacked a trolley being escorted by police.

Socialist trade unions called the strike in an effort to force the government to withdraw its austerity program of higher taxes and cuts in social security benefits.

Loses Temper After Dialing Wrong Twice

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Eugene G. Rossetti told police he lost his temper when he dialed two consecutive wrong numbers at a pay telephone.

Rossetti was arrested while smashing windows in the phone booth. At the county jail it took five policemen to get him into a cell.

Sometime Sunday he stuffed clothing into the lavatory in the cell. Plumbing on the fourth-floor cell row was clogged, water flooded that floor and showered onto the third floor, soaking records in the sheriff's office.

Nobody Asks Them

Likes, Dislikes Favorite Gripe of Many Car Owners

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT (AP) — A favorite gripe of automobile owners is that nobody ever asks them what they like or don't like about cars.

The gripe becomes more vigorous when it's pointed out the auto companies constantly are engaged in consumer research with lots of people asking lots of people lots of questions.

"They still haven't asked me, and believe me, brother, I could tell them a thing or two," is a favorite response.

Visitors to the National Auto Show in Detroit last October got the chance to express themselves on a typical consumer research questionnaire. The sponsoring Automobile Manufacturers Association finally has compiled the answers.

In its typical conservative fashion the AMA cautions against drawing any conclusions. It says among other things the exhibit was primarily for demonstration purposes, the answers are an interesting by-product and results shouldn't be considered representative of the total population, or even of the people who attended the show.

All of this may or may not be true. But the AMA adds one well-proved comment — one which causes many sleepless nights for auto company executives.

It is: "People's stated opinions as to what they plan to do in the future often fail to reflect what they actually do when the time comes to take action."

After all these disclaimers the AMA got down to summarizing the answers. All in all they were interesting but not sensational.

More than half of those answering rated the cost of operation fair to poor and more than one out of five who answered this section said flatly it was poor.

Performance and handling rated highest with more than 80 per cent who answered marking it good to excellent. Safety was next highest — about 75 per cent good to excellent.

On quality and workmanship an enthusiastic 15 per cent rated it excellent; 41.2 per cent called it good; 30 per cent only fair and 11.5 per cent poor. The rest left the question blank.

When it comes to buying a car, quality received a strong vote as the most important factor. Low operating cost was second followed by low purchase price, attractive appearance, comfortable ride and roomy interior.

A majority said their next car will be in the same price class as the one they now own. A few more indicated a willingness to move up in price than said they will move down a notch.

Station wagon owners proved the most loyal. Of those who said they now have a wagon 63.4 per cent said their next car also will be a wagon. Next on the list were convertible owners, 61.8 per cent want the great outdoors again, followed by hardtop owners, 52.5 per cent and other sedans 44.2 per cent.

One of every 12 acres of farmland in the United States is treated by crop-dusting airplanes.

Welcoming Ceremony to be held at Missouri Pacific Station

Sedalians will be waiting on the depot platform Tuesday to welcome the Missouri Pacific Eagle at 12:15 p.m. Taking part in the program to honor the railroad that was instrumental in founding Sedalia and has meant so much to the town through the past 100 years, will be Mayor Abe Silverman, members of the City Council, Judges of the County Court, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, businessmen, other citizens and the Smith-Cotton High School Band.

HISTORY

Missouri Pacific, in addition to providing main-line passenger and freight transportation for Sedalia, has maintained a principal shop here since 1905. It is one of the two main locations for freight and passenger car rehabilitation and reclamation of usable parts and materials from equipment retired from service.

Tuesday, the people of Sedalia will have an opportunity to salute the railroad and its modern train as it comes into the station, as townspeople did the woodburner engine 100 years ago.
